The Tafters Handed Bunch After Bunch Of Delegates Assuring His Nomination.

STATES DROP IN LINE ONE BY ONE

Missouri Districts Awarded To His Column This Morning--Advance Guard Of Boomers Begin To Arrive In The City.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, June 10.—As the time for the calling of the National Republican convention together approaches it is more certain than ever that William H. Taft will be the nominee. Already he is awarded a goodly number of delegates from contested delegations and more will follow.

By Acclamation

It is asserted by some, and they are not supporters of the secretary, that Taft's will be the only name presented to the convention and that his nomination will be by acclamation. Frank H. Littlejohn merely claims Taft will have two-thirds of the delegates in the convention.

Two More Added

This morning the 11th and 12th Missouri districts were added to the Taft column. This gives Taft the disputed delegations from the majority of the southern states—Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi and Missouri—a total of ninety-six in all.

Texas Certain

With the thirty-six that are certain to come to the Taft column from Texas he now has enough to nominate, having a total of 491. There are but six in the whole convention, so that even without any handlings to Taft from states whose delegations are in dispute.

Still Gaining

The decision of the committee in the contest for delegates at large and the first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth districts of North Carolina was in favor of the Taft faction.

ELECTION ECHOES ARE NOT PLEASANT

Line City Has Troubles of Its Own in Connection with Recent Election.

As a result of District Attorney John L. Fisher's visit to Beloit yesterday the long expected investigation of the recent election scandals in the Line City had its findings in court. James Sherman, who lives in Illinois and voted in Beloit, was brought into court and this morning on his plea of guilty was fined $1 and costs, which were paid. Sherman's fine was made small owing to the fact he testified he had reported his case to an election inspector and was told it was all right to vote. Tomorrow several other cases are to come up. A committee consisting of Aldermen Dowd, Warner, Hanson, Ingerson and Jauvin have been at work on the testimony for some days past. Illegal registration, illegal voting, colonization of voters and improper conduct of officers at the polls are among the charges made.

CANDIDATE FOR THE STATE SENATORSHIP

I. M. Chamberlin of Beloit Wants Senator Whitehead's Job at Coming Primaries.

Word has been received from Beloit that I. M. Chamberlin, a former farmer and at present a resident of Beloit, has announced his candidacy for the state senate to succeed present Senator John M. Whitehead. Mr. Chamberlin is the father-in-law of Judge Rosa and a brother of Prof. Thomas E. Chamberlin of Chicago University. Senator Whitehead some time ago announced himself as a candidate for re-election and Mayor S. B. Hodges has also been suggested as another possible candidate, although it is doubtful if he runs.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Bids for Road Improvements: John Clark, former street commissioner and alderman of Beloit, was one of the contractors who submitted bids today for the macadamizing of St. Lawrence avenue. Proposals for this work and for the curbing to be placed around the parks will be received until two o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Argus Milton Case: Judge Grinnan came down from Jefferson this morning and at nine-thirty the argument of the case of McGowan vs. Paul et al was commenced. At a late hour this afternoon the arguments had not been finished.

Family Fuss Adjusted: Peter Whitman of South Jackson street who was arrested last evening on complaint of his wife that he threatened her life, appeared in court this morning and a peaceable adjustment was reached by the defendant's promising to turn over the home and contents to his wife and, himself, stay away from there thereafter.

Dental Thieves Took Pens: Since evidence seems to show that the locks at the dental offices of Drs. Pierce and Richards were tampered with Saturday night, and owing to the fact that a $200 haul of platinum, gold fillings, and false teeth was made from the offices of Drs. Meyers and G. E. Cleophas in Beloit the same evening, H. B. Smith is inclined to believe that the raid on his pen factory was made by the same parties.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD THIS MORNING

Impressive Services Were Held
At Noon by Assembled Confederate Veterans.

[DESPATCH TO THE GAZETTE.]

Birmingham, Ala., June 10.—This was another interesting and busy day for the thousands of Confederate veterans and their friends in attendance at the annual national encampment. Informal roundups were numerous during the day and the features of entertainment were plentiful. The Battle Abbey committee submitted its report this morning and at noon came the memorial services, which were of a most impressive character. Much interest is manifested in the afternoon proceedings, which will include the reports of important committees and also the election of officers for the year.

When the business has been disposed of in the early evening will witness a grand floral parade under the auspices of the Sons of Veterans. Hundreds of additional visitors are expected to reach the city tomorrow morning in time to witness the grand reunion parade of veterans, which will be the last big feature of the gathering.

Kansas City, Mo., June 10.—Kansas City this morning found herself in the throes of the most serious flood since that of 1903. There is no possibility however of the great flood stage of 1903, when a million dollars' worth of damage was done. There was every indication this morning that the crest of the flood had been reached by this afternoon and that in another twenty-four hours both the Kaw and Missouri rivers at this point will begin to fall.

Madison, Wis., June 10.—Henry F. Cochems of Milwaukee will make the speech with which the Wisconsin delegation will present the name of Senator La Follette to the republican national convention. At a conference yesterday at the country home of the senator, La Follette announced the selection of his favorite spellbinder. Incidentally, Senator La Follette and his close political friends, maintain that hope of nominating Wisconsin's favorite son candidate is not gone. They profess to believe that Taft is far from the nomination, and declare that if the Olson is not nominated on the first ballot he has no ghost of a show of the prize. It is intimated that Taft lacks essential elements of strength in the republican candidate against Bryan and that this fact will be more prominent every day until the convention opens.

Cochems is a powerful orator, a college prize winner twelve years ago, practicing attorney in Milwaukee, assistant district attorney there during part of the graft grand jury work, unsuccessful candidate for congressional nomination in the fifth district two years ago, and an experienced campaigner and political worker in the La Follette cause. He has a great voice and is predicted as certain to make a strong impression.

GRADUATION WEEK AT STATE SCHOOL

TWO PUPILS ARE GRADUATED FROM BLIND INSTITUTE.

ADDRESS BY DR. FRISBY

Baccalaureate Address Was Delivered
by Rev. J. W. Laughlin
Sunday Afternoon.

Commencement exercises at the State School for the Blind began last Sunday afternoon, when Rev. J. W. Laughlin delivered the baccalaureate address to the senior class, the remainder of the school and the invited guests. He took for his subject "Life as Robinson Crusoe Saw It." He told the story of Robinson Crusoe and then drew from it some practical lessons. Making the most of oneself in whatever or situation one is put, making the most of one's opportunities and the attitude one should adopt toward his fellow men with whom he is thrown in contact were some of the main points he brought out as illustrated by Defoe's immortal story.

Monday evening regular musical recital in which representatives of the entire school participated was given before a large and appreciative audience which heartily applauded the various numbers. Both chorus and individual numbers were given and the program was made up of instrumental and vocal selections. The program was as follows:

Flute Solo—Impromptu Mazurka, Blanche Cornell.

Vocal Duet—From the Wind Blows Life, from the Sea—Sara von Wald and Joseph Kimball.

Tuesday evening in the gymnasium of the school Shakespeare's "As You Like It" was presented by the students of the school in a manner which elicited very favorable comment from all who were present. About seventeen of those who attend the school took part. The work was done under the direction of the teachers of the institution, several of whom had had experience in that line. The costumes were prepared from material being made by a professional costumer in that place. The play was staged somewhat in the manner of the Ben Greet players and the entire stage was a power of green branches presenting a very pretty setting for the comedy. The following is the cast:

Choir Enjoys River Ride: The choir of St. Peter's Lutheran church and a few friends boarded the "City Belle" yesterday afternoon, taking with them well-filled hamper. The party enjoyed the supper about three and a half miles upstream, after which a moonlight ride was taken. About twenty-five participated.

Where is the Fountain? Anxious inquiries are being made where the fountain that usually plays in the Court House fountain has gone to. With the exception of a few days when the water escaped out most mortally the big white structure has been merely a monument to the sagacity of the person who designed it.

Visits Waupaca: Col. E. O. Klineberry, chairman of the G. A. R. Department Visiting committee, is home after several days' stay at the Waupaca Veterans' home, concluding the annual inspection of the home, begun two months ago. The board of trustees, officers and visiting committee were all present at this final meeting of the year.

OBITUARY.

William Welch.

The remains of the late William Welch were tenderly held to rest in Mt. Olivet cemetery this morning. The funeral services were held at nine o'clock from St. Patrick's church, Rev. J. J. McCullough officiating. The church was filled with sympathizing friends who came to pay their last tribute to the deceased. The pallbearers were William and Edward Joyce, Arthur Brown, Daniel McCarthy, Frank Griffin, and John O'Brien. Those from out of town who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy, and Mr. and Mrs. James Western of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Canney of Footville, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sweeney and son Bert of Green Bay, and Mrs. John Murphy of Ladd, Ill., and J. J. Sonty of Milwaukee. The flowers were very beautiful.

Francis Ellener Lewis.

The funeral services of France Ellener Lewis were held this afternoon at three o'clock from the home at 153 Jackson street. The house was filled with sorrowing friends who had gathered to pay the last respects to the deceased, Rev. R. C. Denison, who spoke touchingly of the worth of the departed girl.

The active pallbearers were Charles Tippett, Ronald Alris, Perry McKinley, Walter Kendall, Victor Galbraith and Leo Aphirwall.

The honorary bearers were Misses Louise Tiffeld, Marian Blodgett, Phoebe McNamee, Clara Blodgett, Hallie Turner, Mildred Doty, Pearl Baker, Marche Rogan, Vera Nolan and Josephine Doty; and Roger Cunningham, John Underwood, Ralph Tippett and Dean McKinley.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

Vacations for Police: According to custom, each member of the police force will enjoy a ten-day respite from his labors during the present summer. Officer Peter Champion will be the first to lay off and his holiday will commence on July 1. All will receive full compensation during the intermissions and the two who do not get it at once will be paid with interest at the legal rate, eventually.

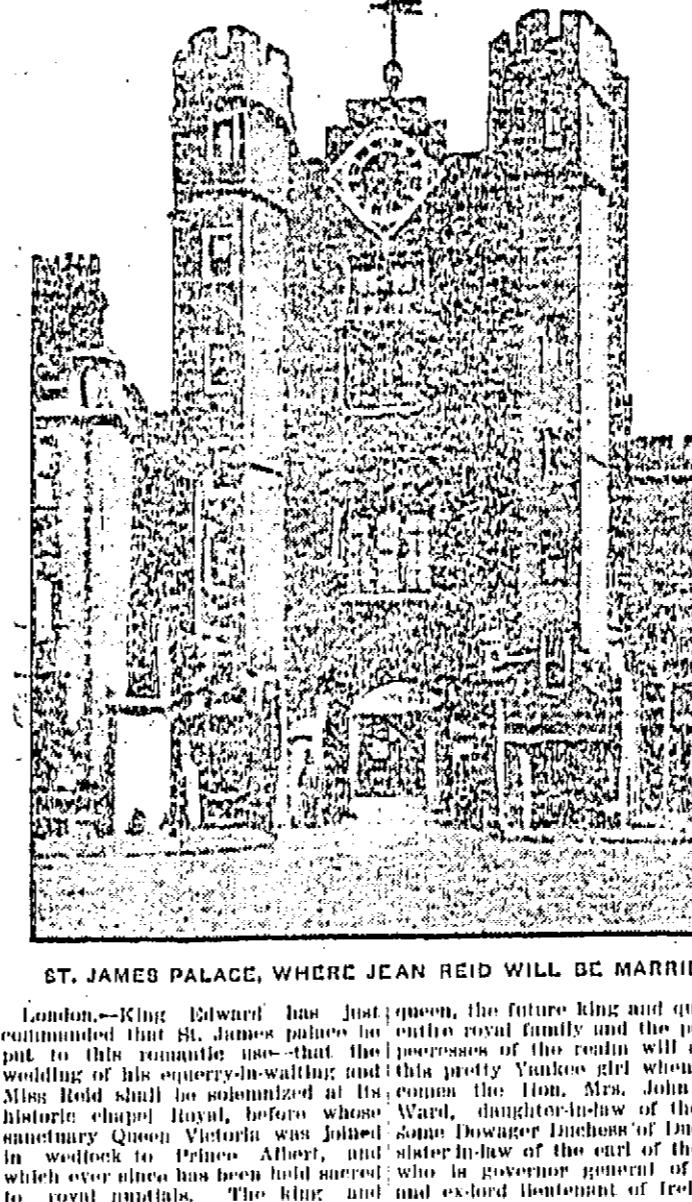

Bike-Riders Better Look Out: Bike-riders who repeat in using sidewalks for speedways will be caught whenever caught hereafter, according to the orders issued by Chief Apelby. The first party arrested happened to be a chance offender but some of the "inveterates" are quite likely to land in the toils before long.

Trees-Trimmers Misrepresent: Judging from the complaints received by Supt. John Heimbott of the city tree-trimming squad, another crew of foliage-fixers has been making the rounds and securing work through representations that the city would charge property-holders a dollar per tree whereas they would perform the same service for fifty cents. The city is carrying on this campaign at its own expense and such chafing have no basis in fact.

"Affinity" Causes a Suicide: Chicago, June 10.—An "affinity" and the discovery he had squandered perhaps $10,000 of his employer's money upon her Tuesday caused the suicide of Morris Panush, a married man 40 years old. He fired two shots into his own head while the officers of the Municipal Building association, 1305 Hartford building, of which he was manager, were checking over his accounts.

Call for Flowers: Those having flowers for the decoration of the Presbyterian church for Children's day, June 11, will confer a great favor.

London.—King Edward has just given the future king and queen, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the annual inspection of the royal family and the peers and commoners of the realm will surround the wedding of his equerry-in-waiting and this pretty Yankee girl when she becomes Queen Victoria.

Miss Reid shall be solemnized at the historic Chapel Royal, before whose altar the Queen Victoria was joined some Dowager Duchess of Dudley and which ever since has been held sacred who is governor general of Canada to royal nuptials.

The King and Queen will be present at the wedding.

KICKER'S KOLUMN

Editor Gazette: In the ordinance which calls for the replacement of streets after they have been dug up for service pipes of various sorts, and otherwise tampered with, a dead letter? Whose business is it to see that this ordinance is enforced and if some official is responsible why does he not compel those who dig up the streets to properly replace them? There are gutters across streets as the result of service pipes placed this spring. I noticed a place on Washington street towards the cemetery several inches higher than the grade, street not properly replaced. The street car company has recently repaired its cemetery line and left Washington street in bad condition in many places. Our streets are in poor condition ordinarily and the carelessness of various people makes them still worse. Let's wake up.

DRIVER.

The only line of railroad track open to the west is that of the St. Louis & San Francisco. All Union Pacific, Santa Fe and Rock Island trains are now using that line as far as Olathe, Kan. The Rock Island is sending its Denver trains over the Burlington to Lincoln, Neb. The railroads are the heaviest losers by the flood. Crops have been destroyed, but will be replaced with the assurance of a large yield.

Pigah, Ill., June 10.—The Soldier river, swollen by recent rains, is from three to five miles wide at this place. The water backed up by the current of the Missouri has inundated the whole valley of the Soldier, and the town of Pigah and Moorhead are submerged.

OREGON DEMOCRATS FOR BRYAN.

State Convention Instructs the Delegates to Support the Nebraskan.

Portland, Ore., June 10.—The Oregon Democratic state convention met here Tuesday, elected four delegates at-large and two delegates from each congressional district, and passed a resolution endorsing William J. Bryan for the presidential nomination. The resolution directs the Oregon delegation to support Mr. Bryan, "so long as his name remains before the convention."

Minneapolis, Minn., June 10.—The Prohibition state convention of Minnesota Tuesday afternoon nominated the following ticket: Governor, Dr. George D. Haggard, Minneapolis; Lieutenant Governor, T. J. Anderson, Beloit; secretary of state, J. F. Dawson, Winona City; railroad and warehouse commission, F. F. Lindsay, Minneapolis.

May Have Been a Guinness Victim.

Can Claire, Wis., June 10.—Christen Hilliken, who formerly resided in Dover, four miles south of Chetek, and who mysteriously disappeared from there in 1906 after selling his farm for $2,000 in cash, is believed to have been a victim of Mrs. Guinness of Laporte, Ind. The editor of the Decorah (Ia.) Poston, for which Hilliken submitted, written Hilliken's friends that the latter had his paper changed to Laporte and the postmaster at Laporte writes that Hilliken's mail was delivered at Mrs. Guinness'.

Aid to Memory.

After retiring and while lying awake during the wee sum' hours one often thinks of something to do the following day. Tie a small knot in the corner of the sheet and the next morning when making up the bed the knot will be found and prove a most convenient reminder.

DIVES CONDEMNED BY THE BREWERS

RESOLUTIONS FAVOR SUPPORT OF ALL MUNICIPAL LAWS.

OBJECT LESSON PROPOSED

Brooklyn Man Suggests Sending Bill for Damages to Some Prohibition State—Address by Arthur Brisbane.

Milwaukee, June 10.—Resolutions declaring in effect the United States Brewers' association to be in favor of the eradication of the dive will come before the convention at its closing session Wednesday. The resolutions were introduced at an executive session of the convention Tuesday and, while their text has not been made public, it is understood that they declare that municipal laws in all the cities of the country should have the cooperation of the brewers in their efforts to wipe out disreputable saloons. President Liebmann, in the course of his remarks before the convention, took the superintendents of the Anti-Saloon league, most of them former clergymen, to task by asking "how can they advocate a policy of confiscation pronounced by Justice Brewer to be both dishonest and immoral?"

May Present Bill for Damages.
This remonstrance called forth a suggestion from H. D. Scharsich of Brooklyn that the executive committee of the association present to the legislature of some prohibition state an object lesson in the form of a bill for damages for property "stolen" by prohibition legislation. The suggestion was referred to the committee on resolutions.

The afternoon was devoted to addresses, the star of the evening being Arthur Brisbane of New York, with E. J. Giddings of Oklahoma, candidate for governor of that state, a close second in popularity.

Arthur Brisbane's Talk.
Mr. Brisbane started out by declaiming that his editorials had often caused him to be considered as a prohibitionist.

"I have written a great many articles against excessive drinking," he declared, "but it is rather embarrassing because I do not believe that prohibition is desirable and I am positive it is not feasible. The attitude toward prohibition and prohibitionists is a mistaken attitude. The sincere prohibitionist you must leave to one side, because you cannot identify him, and the sincere prohibitionist ought to have the sympathy of every man, and especially of the brewer and wine grower."

"You are engaged in a legitimate business. You ought to repel illegitimate attack. You can tell the farmer who confutes your brewery or ice plant without paying you for it, that he is paying the way for the single taxer who will confute his farm without paying for it. That is a thing to think about."

ATTACK ON GRAND DUKES.

Fearless Speech by M. Guchkoff in the Russian Duma.

St. Petersburg, June 10.—A fearless attack on grand ducal intrusions into affairs of state was made in the Duma Tuesday afternoon by M. Guchkoff, the Octoberist leader, in connection with the disclosure of the war office budget. M. Guchkoff charged that members of the reigning family, with notorious influence, were permitted to remain at the head of certain departments of the army. He enumerated Grand Duke Sergo Michailovitch, Inspector general of artillery; Grand Duke Peter Nicholaievitch, inspector of engineers, and Grand Duke Constantine Constantinevitch, who is head of the department of military schools.

In conclusion M. Guchkoff, with the approval of the Duma, demanded the retirement from the army of these grand ducal leaders who, by the circumstance of their birth, were not amenable to ordinary discipline. Referring to the treaty of Portsmouth, the Octoberist leader declared this to be one of the worst crimes of the Russian government.

Crawford Ahead in South Dakota.
Sioux City, S. D., June 10.—Returns at midnight from the Republican primary election, though far from complete, indicate the nomination of Gov. Cox L. Crawford, for United States senator over A. B. Kitteridge, the incumbent, by at least 8,000 majority. The nomination of State Senator W. G. Vurey of Watertown, the Crawford candidate for governor, is equally probable, while indications point to the success of Burke and Martin, the Kitteridge or "stalwart" candidates for congress.

Potomac Poison Three Hundred.
Paris, June 10.—Three hundred persons, including Marquise de Dion, president of the Automobile club, were poisoned by potomac Tuesday night at a banquet of the Automobile club. The poison poisoning is attributed to a dish of duck that was served at the banquet. One person is dead and many others are in a serious condition.

New Orleans Residences Burn.
New Orleans, June 10.—Fire Tuesday night consumed about a score of buildings in the residence quarter at Berlin and Magazine streets, then crossed the latter street and started anew in several places in the neighborhood simultaneously.

GIRL CAPTURES A BURGLAR.

Miss Fay Bergen Proves Herself Plucky and Powerful.

Kansas City, Mo., June 10.—Displaying remarkable courage and pluck and making use of her athletic prowess, Miss Fay Bergen, daughter of Dr. J. P. Bergen, and a well-known society girl, Tuesday night captured a negro burglar who was making an attempt to enter the home of her father.

Miss Bergen upon discovering the negro grabbed with him and striking him repeatedly with her clenched fist, forced him to the floor. Half dazed by the blows the negro made no attempt to defend himself. Miss Bergen grasped a chair near by and rained blow after blow upon the burglar's head. After beating him into unconsciousness she summoned the police. A surgeon took 17 stitches in the man's head.

The last conference over these planks took place Tuesday in the office of Secretary Taft. Washington, June 10.—For the first time in 27 years Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma was able to distinguish an object when Tuesday, for the brief period of 30 seconds, he could see his cuff with his left eye. For the past week the senator has been receiving treatment at the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat hospital in this city. If further improvement is shown it may be unnecessary to operate on his eye, as had been the intention. Senator Gore is now more hopeful of regaining the use of at least one eye.

THE BREWERS' MISTAKE

The brewers' convention, which closed today in Milwaukee, spent a good deal of time in discussing prohibition, and seemed impressed with the notion that the fight now going on all over the country against the saloon is being engineered by the prohibition party.

It is difficult to understand why a lot of intelligent men should be so blind to conditions. The Anti-Saloon League, which is conducting the popular law and order movement, is absolutely non-political and nonpartisan.

It interests men of all parties, and no party, but it is free from political organization, and affiliates with no party. It is the people's cause, and popular because it stands for decency and respect for law.

The fact was discovered a long time ago that the saloon never reforms itself, and the fact is just as apparent today. Janesville furnishes an object lesson every Sunday and at all other times when opportunity is given to violate the law.

The people have become tired of this sort of lawlessness, and so have arisen in their might and said, the American saloon will not observe and respect law, therefore it must go. There is nothing fanatical or specious about this movement. It has come to stay, and the saloon which remains in business, where license is granted, will be made to observe the law.

The following facts concerning the law and order movement, compiled by the Anti-Saloon Press Bureau, are significant, for they show how little prohibition, and how much the people, have to do with it:

"In Georgia for instance, the legislature which enacted prohibition could not boast of a single member of the prohibition party. Not only is this true, but the prohibition vote in the state could hardly be said to have been of great influence, since in 1901, out of a total vote of 120,992, only 635 were cast for the candidate of the prohibition party, while in 1906, in the state election, there was no prohibition vote recorded.

"Alabama furnishes another example worthy of notice. Of all the members of the legislature, not a single one was a third party prohibitionist, and in the elections of 1904, out of 108,822 votes, the third party prohibitionists cast 612 and the prohibition vote in the state elections of 1906 was nil—according to the records.

"Over in Mississippi, in 1901, the vote for the candidate for president on the prohibition ticket was so small that the year books do not even record it and the 1906 records tell the same story.

"In North Carolina, the total vote for president in 1901 was 207,570, of which the party prohibition vote was 361. The Oklahoma statistics show results of practically the same character.

"Prohibition, in Maine and Kansas, was adopted before the prohibition party came in existence, and in North Dakota, when the constitutional amendment for prohibition was carried in 1880, the party prohibition vote was comparatively insignificant.

"When leaders in the republican party or in the democratic party make false statements, or give out misleading information about local option, prohibition or temperance reform generally, it is the policy of the Anti-Saloon League to let the people know the facts. It should be no less the policy of the league in regard to misleading statements made by men who are members of the prohibition party.

"The Anti-Saloon League has no fight against the prohibition party, many of the members of which are loyal supporters of the Anti-Saloon League, but it does protest against the wild, misleading and false statements made by certain members of that party, as well as the general public.

"With all the talk about what has been done, the cold facts remain that the prohibition party, as a party, while it has done much in the past in the way of creating public sentiment, has not secured the passage of a single law on a single statute-book, in a single state in the union, and we are able to assert without fear of contradiction that there has not been a single victory excluding the saloon in a single hamlet, city or county throughout the United States which has been won by the prohibition party. Prohibition, however, as a principle, supported by the good people of all parties in opposing the saloon, has won, is winning and will continue to win until the saloon, as an institution, will live only in history. There is no political patent on prohibition. It is not a mono-partisan issue. It is an omnibus issue."

THE RURAL MAIL SERVICE

There has been more or less complaint about Rock county's rural mail service, ever since it was established, and individual effort has been made to have it improved, without success. Some six months ago, the Gazette took the matter up, believing that if concerted action representing the county could be intelligently handled, improved service might be secured.

Blank petitions were sent out to every township where complaints existed, with township maps designating routes, and a request made that changes be indicated which would improve the service.

A lively interest was shown, on the part of the farmers, and when the information was compiled it showed that about 200 families entitled to service, were not receiving it.

Congressman Cooper was advised of the situation and expressed a desire to tend a hand. Through his influence an inspector was sent to Janesville, a few days ago, but unfortunately he was the man who laid out the present routes, and so prejudiced, that it was impossible to convince him that any improvements could be made.

An interview with this inspector, whose name is Kitzridge, brought out some facts, not generally understood, which are of interest.

About five years ago, when the rural service was first considered in Rock county the postoffice department sent out Inspector Walker, who spent three months in driving over the country and became familiar with the roads and conditions.

When his report was filed it included recommendations for 48 routes, which was turned down by the department on a nonsensical ruling that every carrier must serve at least 100 families, while Mr. Walker's report provided for 86 as an average.

Then Mr. Kitzridge was sent out to revise the work, and in his ambition to earn his salary, he seemed to overlook the fact that he was a servant of the people, and so went the government one better, by cutting the routes down to 36, and making the minimum of service 106 families, or six more than the department called for.

Had he been satisfied to take the department on its own proposition of 106 families to the carrier, and given the county two more routes, every house in the county would have been served, but he was evidently trying to establish a record for economy, and succeeded.

There are 1200 miles of country roads in Rock county representing the residence of some 4,000 families. The 36 routes in the county and half a dozen more that come across the border from nearby towns, cover practically 1100 miles of this territory and serve about 4,200 families. This leaves 100 miles and 200 houses unprovided for.

It doesn't require a very long head or astute brain to figure out that by a careful redistricting, and the addition of two new routes the service would be complete. This 100 miles of unprovided territory is largely occupied by large farms, where there is only one or two houses to the mile, but this is no reason why they should be neglected.

This is the situation as it exists today, but the campaign has just commenced, and there will be a shaking up of the dry bones before it closes.

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE

In another column will be found a picture of William Allen White, the man who gained national prominence, some years ago through an editorial in his paper, "The Emporia Gazette," on "What's the Matter with Kansas?"

This was during the days when the state was just recovering from the grasshopper plague, and when an epidemic of pogrom and fanaticism made Kansas a byword, shunned by capital and plastered with mortgages.

White was on the ground and fully alive to the situation. His sharp analysis of conditions caused people to think and introduced him as a writer. Today he is known throughout the country as a versatile scribe, and his magazine articles are very popular.

The Gazette has arranged to publish a series of some half a dozen letters reporting the republican national convention. They will be noted for originality, and will be as breezy as a May morning, for White is always entertaining.

The awful work of the legislators and politicians has been realized. The attack upon the Missouri Pacific has cost between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, which represents a dividend, but resumption is here. The people have awakened to what it means to hurt great properties and they real-

MISS JULIETTE WILLIAMS AND JOE LEITER.

Washington, D. C.—Probably sometime during the coming month of June Joe Leiter and Miss Juliette Williams will be married. This may sound like any ordinary announcement, but as a matter of fact it isn't.

It isn't, first because Joe Leiter is famous from coast to coast for his wanton extravagance and the swift pace of his prolonged bachelor life. It isn't, in the second place, because Miss Juliette Williams is one of the most beautiful of American maidens, the daughter of an army officer and the possessor of the euphonious and descriptive title of "the peacock girl with the Christy face."

Joe Leiter has done many remarkable things in his day. For a man who is now only 40 years old the swashbuckling Joe Leiter certainly is the record for breadth and thickness. Inheriting a million dollars from his father in 1897, he bearded P. D. Armour in the Chicago wheat pit and held wheat cornered for year, coming out of the battle still fighting though loser. It is said to the amount of $4,000,000. Setting to work to pay these losses he became a painting champion with such success that six years later he was rated as the successor of $30,000,000. As a man he was at Ziegler, Ill., he won the respect of striking employees by personally conducting resistance against 400 armed strikers. At the height of the Chicago wheat struggle he dispensed thousands of dollars by depositing $6,000,000 in P. D. Armour's bank, which gave the veteran antagonist the shock of his life. About this time he was supposed to be engaged to Nina Harrington, the actress. In those days Joe displayed undignified fondness for ladies of the stage. He gave Miss Harrington repeated dinners and parties and shared his valuable wealth with this with the Casino girl. Over and again Joe had been reported to be engaged to marry divers and sundry ladies of the stage. After years of cosmopolitan affection Joe Leiter now proposes to settle down as the humble husband of an army officer.

The bride is Miss Juliette Williams and she will inherit the magnificence of millions. Washington society has not yet forgotten the night that Joe and Juliette became acquainted. It was the annual bachelors ball and on previous occasions Joe Leiter shone among the bachelors. The ball was not far advanced when there entered the room a figure that made the promenaders stand still and for the first time in his life made Joe Leiter think. It was the figure of a young girl, tall and slender and dressed most amazingly. Not only was she personally attractive, but the dress she was wearing was a memorable wonder. It was of fine white silk tissue made full and flowing, with the skirt ending in a full train. Beginning at the waist line in small lines and trailing off at the bottom of the skirt worn hand-painted peacock feathers. The bodice was decorated in the same way and arranged to spread from the waist line upwards in imitation of the flamed tail of the peacock. The slippers that went with the gown were embroidered in peacock feathers. This was Miss Juliette Williams, daughter of Gen. Col. A. R. Williams, U. S. A., home from the Philippines and stationed in Delaware.

This is the girl whom Leiter is to marry. Plans for the nuptials have been made. After the wedding trip Mr. Leiter will take his bride to spend the summer with his mother at Manchester-by-the-Sea and then the fay will go aboard to visit the Countess Suffolk, who was formerly Miss Margaret Leiter and Mrs. Colin Campbell, formerly Miss Nancy Leiter.

Mr. White will visit the Chicago convention as a white newspaper man, a man who has been doing things with ink and type, nosed for news, tramped for space, and been horse-whipped for his editorial courage. He is a man who knows the political art from the standpoint of a high thinking layman and has followed and reported the deeds and doings of the vanishing American hero from his glory to his now seeming doom. He has studied and knows the web-work radiating from the County, State and National political organizations as the school boy knows his maps and he has always written what he has thought leaving consequences alone.

One of Mr. White's most notable convention reports was that of the last Democratic convention at St. Louis. He will write of the convention treating it from its human interest aspect and interspersing it all with his wonderful gentleness of humor and breezy breadth of thinking.

Two preliminary articles will experiment with the happenings of the thrilling days of follow, and after the convention proper convenes, a telegraphic article will be sent out from the convention hall daily to this paper.

The makers of the convention, the doughmen of its moving, the builders of its emulates, will be discussed in Mr. White's own inimitable style with touches of his rare character delineations as heretofore written in his magazine sketches of Croker, Platt, Roosevelt and Taft. In fact, every clew of interest, experience and blood-color dealing with the live elements of the convention will be handled.

The articles will appear exclusive in this paper in this city during the convention. Watch for them. Read them.

JANESEVILLE THEIR HOME JUST A DAY

Two Rockford Young Women Who Cut Loose from Home-life Followed Her by Relative.

Miss Florence Johnson and Mrs. Hazel Stanton, two Rockford young women about 19 years of age, arrived in Janesville yesterday and rented rooms with the intention of making their home here. The former had declared that she was unable to live under the same roof with her stepfather any longer and being one of the six teen girls who lost their positions in the Forest City telephone exchange immediately after the town "went dry," she expected to find and indeed had arrangements to secure employment with the Wisconsin Co., here.

Mrs. Stanton was divorced from her husband some time ago, it being stipulated in the decree that he should pay a certain amount of alimony at regular intervals.

After a time he crossed the Illinois line and secured employment in the shops at Beloit.

Thereafter the payments ceased.

It was her purpose to take up her residence in Wisconsin that she might more easily compel him to fulfill his obligations.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By Rose Terrill.

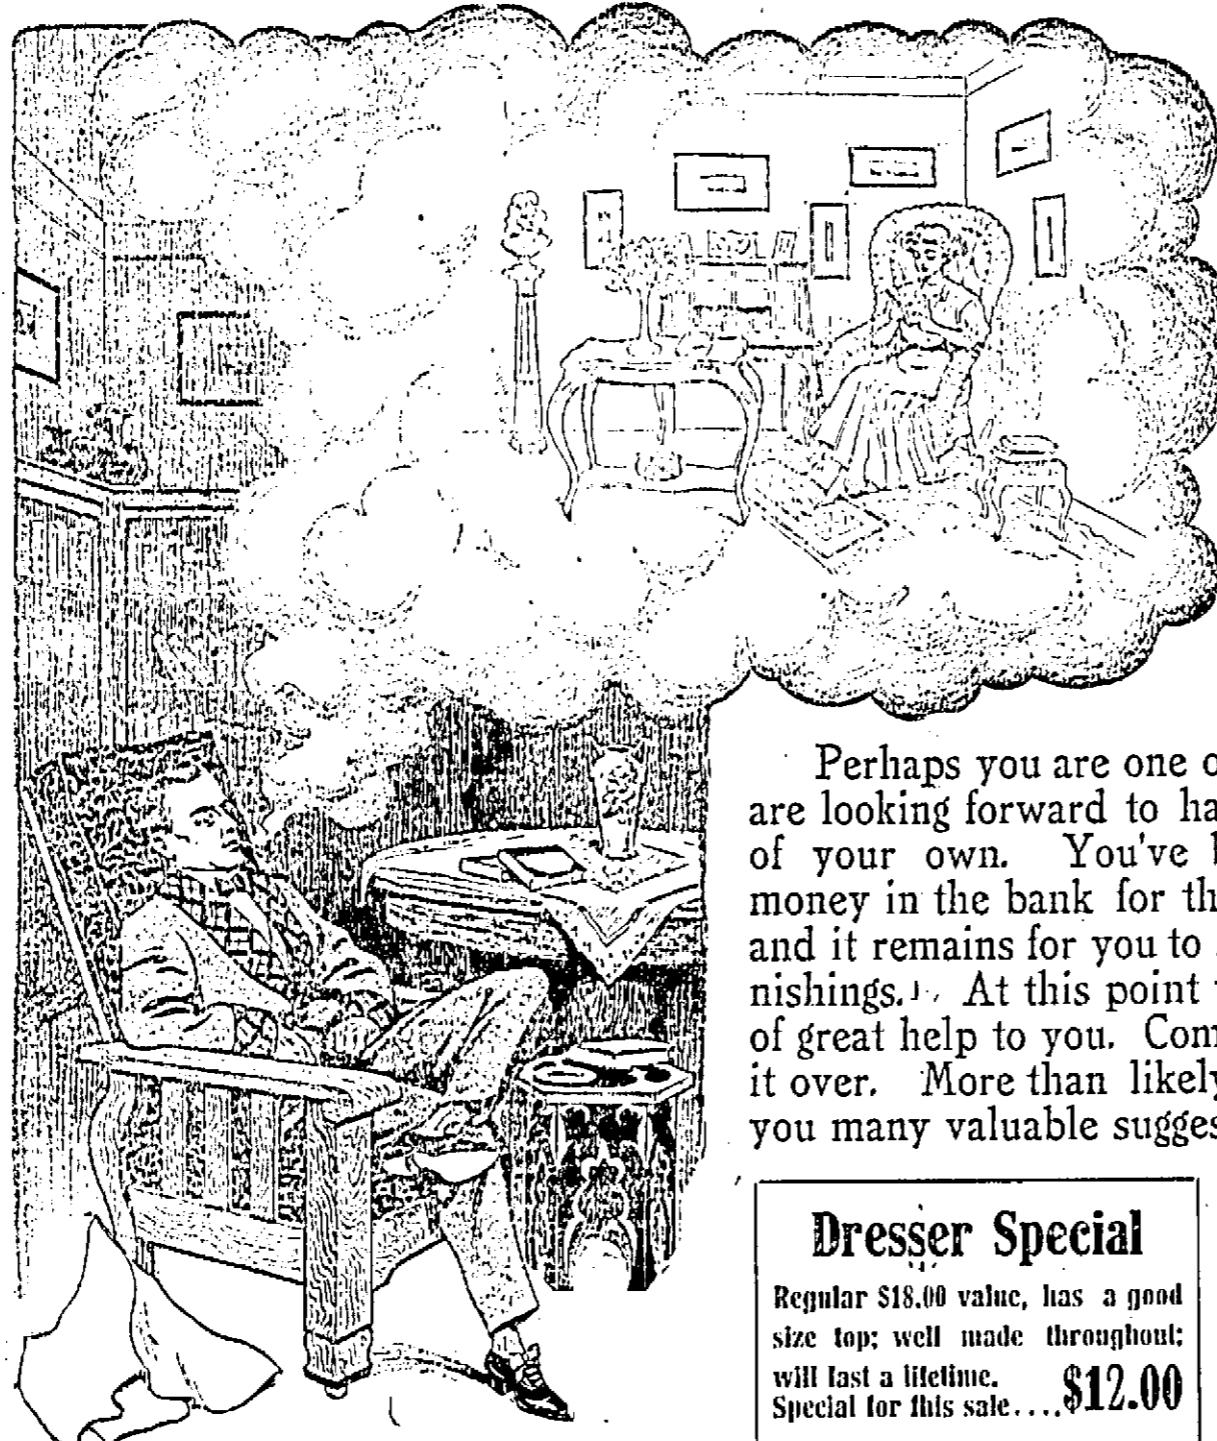

The June bride almost eclipses the sweet girl graduate in the minds of the people—and the pages of the newspapers. Not that she is so numerous, but that the step she takes is of so much greater importance. The girl who graduates but turns a page—the bride closes a volume and begins a new story. Small wonder that all her little world is interested in helping her, begin this new "book of the heart," since "all the world loves a lover." The marriage ceremony is but the preface, often written by an author himself, and full of interpolations, everybody takes a part and "helps" with suggestions, gifts and advice, until the poor little bride has lost even her own identity. It is a perfectly natural situation and one that no effort could change. It is strange how able everybody feels to run the affairs of his neighbor. The veriest failure you know is the fullest of advice. Perhaps that is natural and that out of a bitter experience has come valuable knowledge, but much care must be exercised in the case of the little bride, lest the blessed privileges of her wifehood be taken from her.

For instance, it is with the kindest heart that the loving father buys or builds and furnishes a home as a surprise for the dear daughter or daughter-in-law. He never dreams that he is robbing her of one of the most precious experiences that come to a woman—the joy of building her own nest in company with the man she loves. All the joy of consulting together over every closet or cubby-hole in the new home is denied her and the "ready-made" home is as great a misfit as the "ready made" garment so often proves.

A cheer, given with the definite purpose of building a home, or a promise to pay the bills, will give more genuine happiness than all the ready-made houses ever built. And another to cover the furniture will provide a fund of happiness that will tide over many an unhappy experience, then there will be no strings tied to every article in the house, no little haunting dread that to change any arrangement may hurt someone's feelings.

"Yes, I know it's a bad light," said one of these defrauded brides, "and a beautiful picture, badly hung, but you know John's father had the house all furnished and ready for us when we came home from our wedding trip, and he told me that he hung every picture with thought and his own hands," and so I wouldn't dare change it."

"Dear old dad," said another, "as she and the dearest man sat in front of the glowing fire in their little home, 'He said that when he determined to build me this house for our wedding present, he made up his mind that there should be one thing to keep me library at home, where you and Jack used to burn tons of good coal,' he chuckled. 'He never knew how I detected it with its pretense of being marble. The plainest wooden mantle would have suited me better. Why I think one reason I married you was to get away from it, and now I'll have to live with it years and years.'

"Let's change it," suggests, muscine ignorance.

"And just dad, when he has been so kind? I couldn't."

At bottom this generosity is only idealized selfishness, mixed with egotism. Sometimes the groom-to-be makes ready the little home. It is ignorance on his part, and too often his lack of experience is plainly apparent in the home he has made "all alone." The new housekeeper forgets him out of her loving heart, and makes the best of things, and perhaps in time gently teaches him his error.

As for the married man who perpetrates any such foolish surprise on his patient wife, it would take a volume to deal with him justly—or, a Secret of Elaborate Wardrobes.

"You've heard of the little boy that had to stay in bed when his brother had to wear their one dress-up suit of clothes," remarked an exclusive dressmaker. "Well, that plan of trading clothes isn't confined just to little boys or to people in poor circumstances. I know of three sisters out in the East End who have all kinds of money and whose wardrobes are interchangeables."

"The only objection to their plan is that some of their neighbors have been observant enough to notice their exchanges."

"Aside from these sisters I know a number of prominent Cleveland women who think nothing of borrowing a gown apiece from three or four of their friends when they are going away on a visit of a week or two."

Old Gloves.

They have about 50 or 60 old gloves at the ticket office down at Union station, gray suede, undressed kids—every old kind. But the trouble is that among them all there is not one pair. They are all odd gloves, mostly "lefts." You see most men carry their money in their left-hand pockets, and when they're buying railroad tickets, they take off the left glove. Then when they go away and leave the glove the boys in the ticket office are not better off than if they had left nothing behind but an air of mystery.

"It's surprising, too," they say at the ticket office, "how many men have one or two fingers missing. One of the lot of old gloves now there, a dozen or more have at least one finger gone. The ticket sellers watch for men who have fingers missing and try to match them up with gloves that correspond. With that exception, most of the gloves go to waste."

THE MOST EXCLUSIVE CLUB IN THE WORLD.

London, Eng.—The Marlborough Club, where King Edward has carried on his personal correspondence, is acknowledged to be the most exclusive club in the whole world. The building stands at the western end of Pall Mall, near Marlborough House, which was the residence of the present king of England while he was Prince of Wales. From Marlborough House the Marlborough Club took its name. It long ago became the favorite resort to the peers and since he became king of England, his interest in it has not waned.

In the dining room there is a special table always reserved for him at which he may sit with such intimates as he chooses to invite. In the writing room there is also a desk which no one else ever thinks of using, and at which King Edward has carried on his personal correspondence. Although the building is simply furnished with that sort of simplicity which is by no means inexpensive. Because of its exclusiveness, it is perhaps less often spoken of than many of the other clubs, such as the Carlton, the Travellers and the Athenaeum.

Oddly enough, the club which ranks next to the Marlborough in exclusiveness is the famous Beefsteak Club, which has blackballed many a prime minister, many a nobleman of high rank, while opening its doors at the same time to men of letters, artists and in fact to those who are congenital, without any consideration as to their rank or their riches.

MURPHY AND HIS PLAYERS.

When the White Sox opened in Chicago this week and raised their campaign pennant, owner Murphy came in for a handsome floral offering from his players. The bundle of roses, which was placed in his arms was nearly as large in size as he was. He acknowledged the present with the usual Murphy smile.

The Frigate Bird.
Wonderful powers of flight are possessed by the frigate bird of the tropics. It has a spread of wing of ten feet to 12 feet, can travel 100 miles an hour and is said to be able to remain on the wing for a week at a time.

VARIED PROGRAM
AT CLASS NIGHT

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT HIGH SCHOOL BEGAN LAST NIGHT.

GOOD WELCOMING ADDRESS

Friends of the Class of 1908 Filled the Gymnasium of the High School.

Ingenious class exercises, interesting thesis, an instrumental solo, impersonations, and a declamation, with made by the high school orchestra, the boys' glee club, the girls' glee club and both together, composed a diversified and pleasing program for the opening of the high school commencement in the gymnasium of the high school building last evening.
By eight o'clock when the first number on the program began, the main floor and the balcony were filled, nearly nine hundred people having been admitted.

The orchestra opened the program with the "Country Dance" by Neely.
The rounds of applause which followed were well deserved both by the members of the organization and their director, Mrs. Georgia Hyde. In behalf of the class of 1908 Miss Ellen Roherty gracefully extended a cordial welcome to the friends of the graduates and the school. Miss Roherty's address was written in the Bawhawka mower and she told in a very clever manner of the various noteworthy experiences of the members of the class of 1908. In their four years spent in the high school.

Scientific Agriculture was the subject of the thesis given by George B. and Ira Austin. Their talk was illlustrated by stereopticon views of different types of cattle and also of some Wisconsin stock. Practical illustrations of the separator and the famous Iowebik milk test added interest to their talk.

Class History.

James Roherty then gave the Class history and told in a humorous way the opinions of the class. He told at length of the remarkable record of the class of 1908 in its progress through the four years of school life. From his compilation of facts and figures it could be clearly seen that there never was and never would be such another class in the Janesville high school.

Louise McElroy followed with a violin solo. She gave the "Angela Scaramanda" by Braga. Miss Erdlin accompanied her on the piano.

In an essay entitled "A Russian Novelist," Miss Nellie Dawson told of the life of the great novelist Dostoevsky.
Miss Cora Fisher followed with a declamation, "Cherokee Roses," which was well received.

Class Will.

Eleanor Farquhar next read the class will which couched in the proper legal phraseology gave, defined and bequeathed the various possessions of the class to their successors and teacher.
A new athlete will was bequeathed to Professor Buell, assistant to Mr.
Vlyman and Miss Caroline Zehn-berger. A statue of John Underwood was left to the school and a set of boxing gloves were given to Mr. Rahr on account of his pugnacious and bold spirit. The Merry Widow Waltz was presented to the high school orchestra to be theirs, their bells and xylophones forever. Mr. Mansfield was given some pianoforte to be used after overhauling in athlete strenuousness while the lost opportunities of the class of 1908 were passed on to the lower class.

Theses.

The next two numbers on the program of the evening were theses.
Martha Anciam gave a very interesting talk on the Rock River which was illustrated by stereopticon slides and Miss Huntress told of Wisconsin cap-tials showing pictures of the various buildings in which the head of our state government has been located at different times in the history of the state.

Twelve girls, members of the glee club, then sang "Joys of Spring"
and gave as an encore "Dreaming."

The class poem was then read by Mayme Langdon. In it she very cleverly described the idiosyncrasies of the various members of the class and touched upon some of the especial characteristics for which they were notable.

Elsworth Strange followed with a well worked out talk on the history of electricity, its discovery, and the development of its uses.

Impersonation.

Five girls impersonating as many famous women were next. They were Eva Dahlquist, Eva Stewart, Helen Baines, Bernette Stuvengeen and Nina Leng. Impersonating respectively
Martha Washington, Betty Ross, Thel-lott Beecher Stowe, Mary Lyon and Frances Willard. Each one gave a short history of the life and work of the woman she represented and told of what she had accomplished in the particular line of endeavor in which she was engaged.

The combined boys' and girls' glee club then gave a selection which was heartily applauded.

The class prophecy, read by Frank Hayes and Stewart Richards, told a clever, humorous way of the probable later life of the different members of the class. The intimation that several of the members of the faculty or the gentler sex had designs of a matrimonial nature upon the janitor caused much merriment.

The boys' glee club then gave "Ghosts of the Heart." Miss Charlotte
Charlton then presented the class token.
The token given by the class of 1908 to the school were several fine new pieces of scenery for the stage in the gymnasium. She gave a short history of the origin and use of scenery and at the close of her talk presented the token.

Get Medals.

Milly Brinkler was also presented with the eighth grade history medal and Robert Cunningham was presented with a two volume copy of Flase's History of the United States as the second prize.

This evening the class play,
Barbara Frerichs, will be given.

BRYCE AT MADISON
SUNDAY AFTERNOON

British Ambassador to Give Baccalaureate Address to University Students.

On Sunday next James Bryce, English Ambassador to the United States will deliver the baccalaureate address to the students of the University of Wisconsin at Madison. Many Janesville people expect to attend the services. James Bryce was born in Belfast, May 10, 1838. His early education was secured in Glasgow, but he studied later at Trinity College in his native land and graduated with honors at Oxford in 1862. In 1870 he first entered politics as a Liberal and went to the House of Commons in the following year. In 1886 he was Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs and in that year he was made Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, with a seat in the cabinet. He held that post until 1892. Three years later he was a member of the Board of Trade, but became unpopular as a result of his opposition to government concentrations for lighting and railways. He is the author of many important works and holds degrees from a number of universities, among them the University of Michigan. He possesses a peculiar talent for the philosophy of history, and one of his best known works is his "American Commonwealth."
It has frequently been said that no living foreigner knows the American people and American institutions so well as does Mr. Bryce.

Mrs. Anna Stevens was home from Madison to spend Sunday and Monday.

Supt. C. H. Hemingway of Janesville is an Evansville visitor yesterday.

Miss Grace Passenden is home from Hanover, where she has been teaching. She will not return next year, having planned to attend Whitewater Normal.

Acheson for two or three weeks.

The Misses Mary Lawson, Clara Magusson and Heddie Asmus were

For Man's Information.

Soldier and Schoolmaster.
When a man has spent an evening calling on ladies, they do not spend the first half hour after he has gone talking about him, as he imagines, but in picking up after him. One man can throw more things out of place in an orderly house than a baby.—Atchison Globe.

Let the soldier be abroad if he will, he can do nothing in this age. There is another personage—a personage less imposing in the eyes of some, perhaps insipidant. The schoolmaster is abroad and I trust to him, armed with his primer, against the soldier in full military array.—Lord Brigham.

SKIN DISEASES CAUSED BY HUMORS IN THE BLOOD

The skin is provided with countless pores and glands, through which an evaporation is going on continually, day and night. This is nature's method of regulating the temperature of our bodies, and preserving the natural appearance of the skin. These pores and glands are connected with tiny veins and arteries through which they receive, from the blood, the necessary nourishment and strength to preserve their healthy condition, and enable them to perform this duty.

So long as the blood is pure and rich the skin will be free from eruption or disease, but when the circulation becomes infected with acids and humors its nourishing and healthful properties are lost, and its acrid, humor-laden condition causes irritation and inflammation of the delicate tissues and fibers of the pores and glands, and the effect is shown in Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, or some other distressing, disfiguring skin disease.

These humors get into the blood through a deranged or inactive condition of the system. Those members whose duty it is to collect and expel the refuse matter of the body fail to properly do their work, and this surplus or waste matter is left in the system to sour and ferment and be absorbed into the blood. There are also certain other humors which get into the blood from without. The juice or milk from poisonous plants, such as poison oak, poison ivy, nettle rash, etc., enters through the open pores of the skin and takes root in the blood. This causes a breaking out which remains for a time and then disappears, but returns at certain seasons of each year.

The cause of all skin troubles can be traced to some kind of humor in the blood. Smooth, healthy skins are only possible where the circulation is pure; and therefore the cure of any skin affection can only come through a thorough cleansing of this vital fluid. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., are valuable only for their ability to keep the skin clean, allay the itching, and tend to reduce inflammation; they cannot correct the trouble because they do not reach the blood.

S. S. S. cures skin diseases of every character and kind, because it purifies the blood. It goes down into the circulation and removes the humors that are causing the trouble, builds up the weak, acrid blood, and completely cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Poison Oak, Poison Ivy, and all eruptions and diseases of the skin.

When S. S. S. has driven the humor from the blood, and cooled and cleansed the acid-heated circulation, every symptom passes away, the skin is again nourished with rich, healthful blood, and comfort is given to disease-tortured skins.

Sophy of Kravonia

by ANTHONY HOPE

Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda"

Copyright, 1908, Anthony Hope Hawkins

Her attitude would have been unchanged, but her knowledge much increased, could she have been present at a certain meeting on the terrace of the Hotel du Paris that same evening. Markart was there, and Little Rastatz, whose timely flight and accommodating memory rendered him today not only a free man, but a personage of value. But neither did more than wait on the words of the third member of the party—that Colonel Stafultz of the hussars who had an old feud with Mstitch, for whom Mstitch had mistaken the Prince of Shavna. A most magnanimous, forgiving gentleman, apparently, this spare, tall built man with thoughtful eyes. His whole concern was to get Mstitch out of the mess! The feud he seemed to remember not at all. It was a feud of convenience, a feud to swear to at the court martial. He was too ready to accommodate Stevoles with the use of his name as Rastatz was to offer the requisite modifications of his memory. But there, with that supply of a convenient fiction, his pliancy stopped. He spoke to Markart, calling him no comrade, alpe—the words would flow, though to General Stafultz.

Mstitch was no better than an assassin. To take up arms on his behalf was to fight in a cause "plainly" disgraceful—one which would make success very difficult and sacrifice it forever and beyond remedy even if it came. It was no cause in which to fight both prince and king. That would be playing the big stake on a bad hand, as Rastatz put it.

Yet the alternative? Stafultz, again, had put that clearly. The army would have no more to do with the man who could not help it at the pinch, who could not save his favorite, who could not release Barnibus.

The prince seemed to be in his most unfriendly mood—the Bourbon in him was peeping out. For the honor of the royal house and for the sake of discipline Stafultz must die. He had packed his court martial with the trustworthy friends he had among the officers, using the justification which "Jury" packers always use and sometimes abuse. They assumed that the soldiers would obey the commandant even with the sound of the rifles which had shot Mstitch fresh in their ears.

He was talking fervently, but Zerkovitch's shoulder indifferently.

"Well, it's good not to fear," he said. "We didn't fear the other night, Mle de Gruchie and I, and all ended well!"

"Indeed?" Marie murmured half under her breath.

The prince laughed. "You shan't make me afraid," he told her, "any more than Zerkovitch shall make me trust Colonel Stafultz. I can't say more than that." He turned to Sophy.

"I think you'd better stay here till we see what's going to happen tonight, and our friends here will do the same. If all's quiet you can go home to sleep. If not, we can give you quarters—rough ones, I'm afraid." He rose from the table and went to a window. "The crowd's thinner. They've gone off to eat and drink. We shall have one quiet hour at all events."

An orderly entered and gave him a letter.

He read it and said, "Tell General Stenovics I will receive him here at 2 o'clock." When the messenger had gone he turned round toward the table. "A last appeal, I suppose! With all the old arguments! But the general has nothing to give in exchange for Mstitch. My price would be very high."

"No price! No price!" cried fiery Zerkovitch. "He raised his sword against you! He must die!"

"Yes; he must die." He turned to the window again. Sophy rose from the table and joined him there, looking over the city. Directly beneath was the great gate, flanked on either side by broad, massive walls, which seemed to grow out of the waters of the river. He was aware of her movement, though he had not looked round at her. "I've brought you, too, into this trouble—you, a stranger," he said.

"You don't think I'm sorry for that?"

"No, but it makes my impotence worse." He waved his arm toward the city. "There it is—here am I! And yet I'm powerless!"

Sophy followed his gesture and understood what was passing in his mind—the pang of the soldier, without his armament, the workman without his tools. Their midnight talk flushed back into recollection. She remembered his bitter complaint. Under her breath and with a sigh she whispered, "If you had the big guns now!"

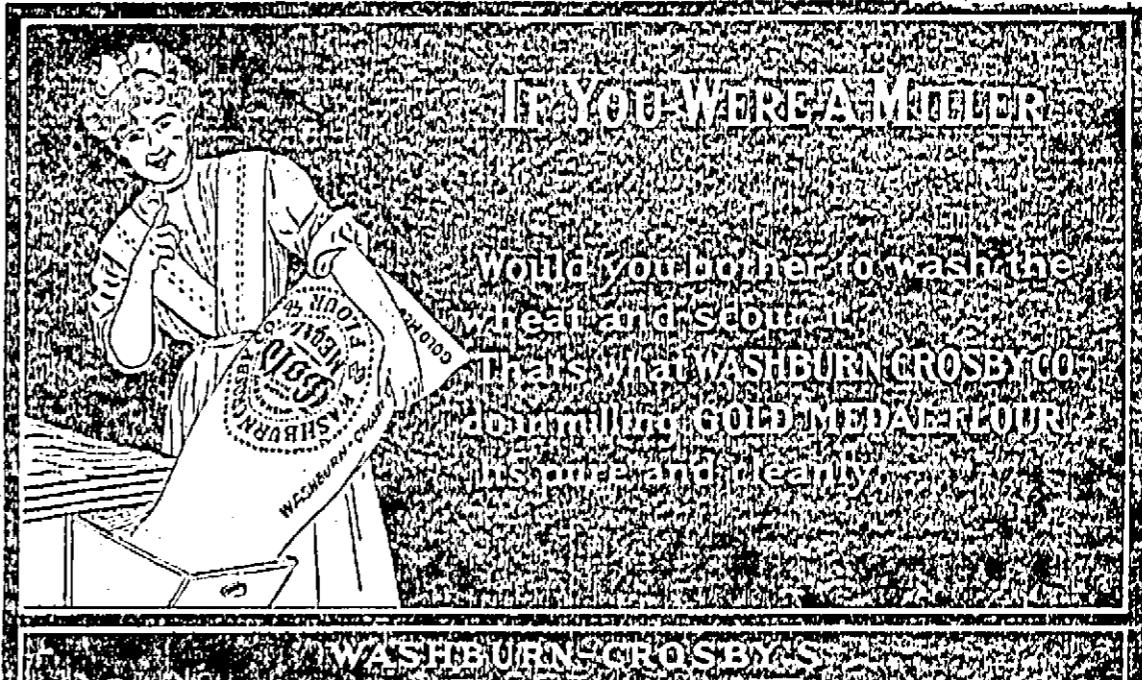

Tony as the whistler was heard it, and it seemed to shoot through his brain. He turned sharply round on her and gazed full into her eyes. So he stood a moment, then quickly turned to the table and sat down. Sophy followed, her gaze fixed on his face. Zerkovitch ceased writing. He had been drawing up another plan. Both he and Marie now watched the prince. Moments went by in silence.

At last the prince spoke—in a low voice, almost dreamy. "My guns for Mstitch! Mstitch against my friend! That would be a price—a fair price!"

The three sat silent. The Zerkovitch, too, had heard him talk of the guns. How on them hung the tranquillity of the city and how on them might hang the country's honor and existence. Stevoles could give them if he would. In return for Mstitch, but to give up Mstitch was a great surrender. Sophy's whisper, almost involuntary, the voicing of a regret, hardly even of a distant aspiration, had raised a problem of conduct, a question of high policy. The prince's brain was busy with it and his mind perplexed. Sophy sat watching him, not thinking now, but waiting, conscious only that what seemed almost chance a new face had broken her been put on the situation.

Suddenly Zerkovitch brought his clenched fist down on the table. "No!" he almost shouted. "They'll think you're afraid!"

"Yes, they'll think that, but not all of them. Stevoles will know better, and I think so. They'll know I do it not because I'm afraid, but in order that I may never be."
